With this notion, a chemical heart seeking new love would be doomed from the beginning. I'm not in. But, hey, at least the songs that mark this doomed relationship sound good. The soundtrack of the film prefigures the difficulties the duo will have to face, with happy and in love montages set on songs about desperation. In the new movie, her character falls for a different dark-haired lonely writer, whose motto is probably "I'm weird. He carries a lot of guilt and sadness from that event, so while he wants to move on with Jughead 2.0, his heart is not necessarily in it. And I don't want to get into this game." We're all so used to seeing her with Jughead by Cole Sprouse, but due to the similarities Jughead and Henry (Austin Abrams) of Chemical Hearts share, Reinhart Grace's character couldn't be further from Betty Cooper.
